

Information on the Varn Empire

VARN EMPIRE

Situated in the Varnian Galaxy, the Varn Empire is the new emerging civilization that is soon to conquer the entirety of its native grounds.

STRENGTHS OF THE VARN EMPIRE

- The Empire has the greatest military in the known universe : so far, no other civilization has successfully resisted it. It has, in addition to a great collection of battleships, vehicles (whether terrestrial or not) and weapons, the best computer-assisted strategists of all.
- The Empire is also known for its size. Indeed, with more than 50 billions star systems in its possession (half the size of the galaxy), no other empire of the past, present or future can compare to it. This realm is separated into quadrants, each one being itself separated into sectors.
- For thousands of years, no internal war has ever risen to shake up the peace that has been present since the earliest record of Varnian History. It is to share this peace to the rest of the Universe that the Empire is willing to accept all star systems into its frontiers.

SECTOR 38.4

All the sectors of the Empire follows the same template : a small group of people working under the Sector's Leader manages all of the different parts of the Sector. Each of them is chosen by a complex algorithm that scans the whole population to find the most suitable person to the task.

Each Sector that is situated on the Empire's frontier has the same task : expand by conquering nearby star systems until it becomes big enough to split into two new Sectors.

Sector 38.4 is a sector bordering the Atraxian Star System which has recently become its next target due to its proximity to the Empire.

